Cocaine addicts' behavior takes toll on family, friends

Third of four parts
The illicit pleasure of a crack cocaine high sent a grandmother's dreams up in smoke.

Kristina Fillop, a 70-year-old Alton resident, suffered the loss of a close friend and the companionship of a loving grandson to crack cocaine addiction.

"It destroys people's lives," said Fillop, who recently returned from a visit to Graham Correctional Center in Hillsboro where her grandson is serving a 30-year prison sentence for the first-degree murder of Gerhard Flieger.

"My family will never be the same," she said. "My boy was not the same person when he was on that drug. He tells everyone he sees never to get involved in it. Once he started he couldn't stop."

Christopher Fillop, 22, a former altar boy, was on a five-day crack binge when he beat and stabbed Flieger to death in July 1992.

Kristina Fillop helped raise Christopher Fillop after his mother died when he was a child. She spoke of her grandson as "my son."

"I have many sleepless nights when I cry my eyes out," his grandmother said. "I wish everyone would stay away from that drug. It takes control of people's lives and makes them do things I don't think they would normally do."

Kristina Fillop is one of several Madison County residents who have suffered because of a loved one's cocaine addiction.

Autopsy statistics show the drugs turning up in alarming numbers of accidents, crimes and suicides throughout the county. Coroner's reports indicate 60 cocaine-related fatalities in the last five years.

"I know a lot of people who use these drugs and I just wish they would stop before they end up in prison or dead," Fillop said. "I never dreamed this would happen to my family, but it has. It's very painful."

Fieger, 55, and Kristina Fillop were close friends after immigrating to Alton from Germany many years ago.

Fieger visited Fillop at her home and had hired Christopher Fillop to do odd jobs around his house.

Fieger "had nobody," Fillop said. "He was our friend. He was a little, fragile fellow who had to start all over again when he came to this country. He and his mother were very close and, when she died he was all alone."

Fieger had befriended Christopher Fillop and hired him to mow his lawn, Kristina Fillop said.

"He only paid Christopher a little bit of money, but my son was glad to do it," she said. "I used him a lot around the house, too. He was always offering to help."

She said her grandson had always held a job until he got involved with crack cocaine.

"He got so addicted he wouldn't eat or sleep," she said. "He would get so high he didn't know what he was doing. It made him desperate and very angry."

Cocaine and crack cocaine have been linked to personality and behavior changes in many users, according to Dr. Christopher Long, a forensic toxicologist at St. Louis University School of Medicine.

"Smoking crack can make people become very suspicious and paranoid of their surroundings," Long said. "The paranoia is sometimes carried out through very violent and erratic behavior."

Users who go on binges may suffer impaired thinking along with confusion, anxious behavior and depression, he said.

Man arrested in sting claims beating

A Bethalto man arrested in a Granite City prostitution sting says he was beaten by police after they ordered him out of his car.

Granite City police officials said Robert Millering started a scuffle with a police officer when the officer tried to arrest Millering.

"I don't want to say they did a Rodney King on me or anything, but I've got cuts and bruises all over," said Millering, 55, who was charged with soliciting and resisting a peace officer, both misdemeanor charges.

Millering, who is advertising manager for the Edwardsville Intelligencer, said he was driving through Granite City about 10 p.m. April 6 when a woman waved him down.

This gal waved me over but I never got out of my car. No money (exchanged hands) so I don't understand why they wanted to arrest me," Millering said.

Millering

Police reports indicate Millering was one of 10 men arrested in the sting Friday night and early Saturday on the weekend of April 8-9.

"The only regret I have on that arrest is that we didn't have it on videotape," Granite City Police Maj. Kip Pomeroy said. "She was not flagging anyone down. She was walking along, doing what a decoy would do."

When Millering was told he was under arrest, he struggled with police, Pomeroy said.

"They ended up rolling around on the pavement but no one was beaten," he said. "The officer said his badge got scraped up when they were on the ground. That was about the extent of it."

Millering said he has hired an attorney to fight the misdemeanor charges but declined to say whether he plans to pursue the matter in civil court.

Millering had not lodged a formal complaint about the incident with Granite City police or municipal officials, officials said Wednesday.

Police beat

The following are among incidents reported recently at area police departments.

Warrant arrests

• Jackie D. Doyle, 37, of Glen Carbon was arrested at 1:10 a.m. April 10 for driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs. She was later charged in a felony warrant with unlawful possession of a controlled substance.

Bond on the warrant is $20,000. Doyle allegedly possessed about 1.5 grams of powder cocaine during a traffic stop in the 2600 block of Washington Avenue.

An officer reported stopping a blue Buick Regal for a traffic violation.

Doyle, the driver, refused to take any field sobriety tests, declined to take a breath analysis test, refused to take a blood or urine test and was charged.

• Chris A. Rains, 37, of the 1700 block of Cleveland Boulevard and Dorothy A. Padilla, 40, of the same address, were arrested at 12:30 a.m. April 11 and were both charged with unlawful production of controlled substances.

Bond on the warrants is $25,000 each.

Officers reported confiscating several cannabis plants under a grow light in a closet at the Cleveland address.

Several hypodermic syringes, a burnt spoon and a bottle cap were also confiscated and sent to a crime lab for analysis.

• Murraiz Surrat, 33, of Jerseyville was arrested at 11:34 p.m. April 10 and charged with unlawful possession of cannabis, assault, and resisting a peace officer. He was later charged in a felony warrant with unlawful possession of a controlled substance.

Bond on the warrant is $20,000. An officer reported seeing a blue Chevrolet Blazer make an improper turn onto Nameoki Road from the parking lot at QuikTrip, Nameoki Road and Madison Avenue.

When stopped at the intersection of Nameoki Road and Ill. Avenue, Surrat, the driver, allegedly swung a fist at an officer, kicked at an officer, and possessed about one gram of cocaine powder and three grams of cannabis.

• Sharon G. Rhodes, 43, of the Parkway West Mobile Home Park, was arrested at 5:40 p.m. April 11 on a felony warrant charging her with unlawful possession of cannabis.

She also possessed a small quantity of cannabis at the time of her arrest, according to a police report.

E. St. Louis team hitting drug dealers

A big ticket drug unit has given the shove to pushers on the street corners of East St. Louis, once rife with brazen crack sellers.

Brand new squad cars and eight uniformed police officers are the driving forces behind a special drug enforcement unit that has forced dozens of drug pushers to close up shop.

The Delta Team, supervised by the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois, has been tackling street corner dealers in East St. Louis for three years.

"It's gotten to the point where you've seldom find a dealer on a corner," MEGSI director Lt. Jerry Juenger said. "East St. Louis had a lot of street sellers before we began utilizing the Delta Team, so to speak, and arrest. We're definitely making progress."

The two-team unit organized in 1991 with the help of a $1 million federal grant. The officers, employed by the city's Police Department, work seven days a week in two shifts.

"It's been working out real well," Juenger said. "We're achieving what we set out to do. We're running the dealers off the streets and into the crack houses."

And shortly after dealers get out of their houses, "we get search warrants and we take them out," he said. "It's at the point now where we see a squad car coming they close up shop."

The grant enabled the city to buy new squad cars for the first time in 10 years, Juenger said.

"The new squad cars work just like Sherman tanks," he said. "When the dealers see them coming, they drop everything and run. A couple weeks ago a dealer spotted a squad car and he threw down $50,000 in cash and took off running. The effect it's having is really amazing."

A uniformed unit would be an asset in any community battling blatant drug sales on the streets, Juenger said.

"Every large community could use one," he said. "The problem is money. They're threatening to cut our funding, which would strike a devastating blow on our progress. The only way to stop that is to get the street to hit them with steady manpower. Once you let down, they pick it right back up."

Hefty fine backs up recycling plan

Municipalities in Madison County could face fines of $5,000 a day if they ignore county orders to start curbside recycling. But Granite City apparently doesn't have to worry.

County Board member Dick Wyrthen of Alton is proposing a county ordinance that would require all municipalities with populations of 1,000 or more to start curbside recycling.

The proposal is aimed at cutting the amount of trash going to area landfills and to help the county meet a state-mandated trash reduction goal. The proposal is expected to be debated at public hearings throughout the county later this month.

"The state law, which went into effect in 1988, gives the county the authority to require curbside recycling in municipalities within the county. The Attorney General's Office and the state's attorney have issued opinions which back us up on this," said county Buildings, Zoning and Environmental Administrator Joe Parente.

"As far as enforcement is concerned, the county would have the power to levy fines up to $5,000 a day for each violation," he said.

Some municipal leaders balked at the proposal last week after the County Board's Legislative Committee voted 4-0 in favor of holding public hearings on the issue.

Under the state law, counties with populations exceeding 100,000, including Madison, have until May 1 to reduce the amount of trash going into landfills by 15 percent.

Granite City Inspector Vince Serum said that the city has been near the 15 percent curbside collection level since initiating a recycling program three years ago. The city utilized a county grant to purchase recycling bins.

"Eventually, curbside recycling will be required everywhere," Serum said.

He said the city has no immediate plans to expand its recycling program.

"I expect the next step will be citywide. Eventually, everything will be picked up at the curb recyclables and garbage. They'll both be picked up on the same day," Serum said.

The city tried to initiate a curbside garbage collection program in East Granite two years ago. While city leaders said the pilot program resulted in much cleaner neighborhoods, pressure from East Granite residents opposed to the program prompted then-Mayor Von Dee Cruse to discontinue the program.

If the proposed ordinance is passed by the full County Board, cities and towns will have little choice but to comply or face hefty fines, Parente said.

"We've tried to be nice about this and offer grants and all the advice and help we could in getting these municipalities to set up their own curbside programs. The bottom line is most haven't been interested in getting involved and it really left us with little choice," Parente said.

Officials estimate Madison County is at the 11 percent level but is unlikely to make 15 percent by the end of the month.

Veterans planning benefit dance

The United Veterans Organization is having a chicken and beer dance fund raiser on Saturday, April 23.

All the proceeds from this event will assist the local veterans groups in purchasing and placing flags on the graves of veterans who are buried at St. John Cemetery on Memorial Day and Veteran's Day. The groups also use the funds to replace the service flags when needed at the Greater Granite City War Memorial Park.

The fund raiser will be held at 7 p.m. Saturday at AMVETS Post 204, 1711 Kennedy Drive, Madison. Food and music by the Horizons from 8 p.m. to midnight will be provided.

Tickets are $7.50 per person and are available at the AMVETS Post 204, American Legion Post 113, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1300, Disabled American Veterans Chapter 53, AMVETS Post 51 and Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 7451.

Open public schools' doors to God

TO THE EDITOR:
Our Friendship Class at Central Christian Church discussed the value of giving "encouraging words" where they are deserved. Our goal is to do this each day, and we were all asked to think of someone we could compliment or encourage.

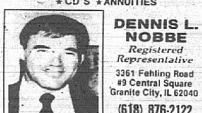

I told them how impressed I was with the article in the April 7 Press-Record about Steve Balen's statements with regard to "re-opening the doors of our school houses to God" and also his thought that he would eventually take heat for saying that. I compliment him for standing up for his principles and for not being afraid to state them in public, even when he feels he will be criticized for doing so.

I'm proud that he's the superintendent of our schools in Granite City; we are fortunate to have this kind of leadership. I hope that others will share in letting him know he should look forward to more compliments, and not criticism.

'60s thinking causes '90s problems

TO THE EDITOR:
Ever wonder what happened to those long-haired, dope-smoking, hippie-types of the 1960s?

Well, guess what, folks. They are all grown up now and they are in power and in control of our country.

They are in control of the presidency, Congress, courts, colleges, schools, media, law enforcement, etc., etc.

This is the bunch that has given us a president who is accused of being a draft dodger, dope smoker, and womanizer; a Congress that wouldn't know the truth if it bit them in the seat of their pants; clergymen, doctors and teachers accused of sexual abuse; gays in the military; abortion on demand; and an ever-increasing divorce rate.

There are couples just plain living together out of wedlock; illegitimate births are at an all-time high. And all the "free love" types of the 1960s, with their "it-feels-good-do-it" attitudes, have brought us AIDS and other types of sexually-transmitted diseases.

Children carrying guns to school are commonplace now. Courts are so lenient that crooks are back on the street before their victims are healed.

Our military is being cut back so far that some two-bit dictator may soon want to challenge us. All TV programs and movies have to be "politically correct" or there will be someone crying discrimination.

I know that no one wants to grow old, but I, for one, am glad I am old enough to have lived in a time where people could respect their president, clergymen, congressmen, teachers, lawyers, doctors, etc.

You didn't have to lock your doors and you could walk anywhere and feel safe.

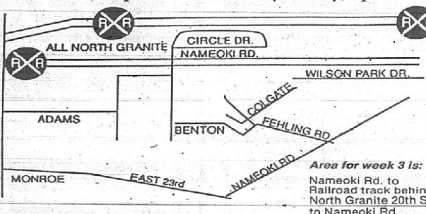

It would take someone a lot smarter than I am to figure out how to solve America's problems, but I think a lot of it started during the "permissive '60s."

If you have a dog...

You need to be concerned. Heartworm season is fast approaching. And it's as easy as a lazy afternoon nap in the shade for your dog to be affected by this potential killer. That's the bad news. The good news is that, with a few easy steps recommended by Bellemore Animal Hospital, heartworm disease is easy to prevent.

Canine heartworm disease is spread by mosquitoes. Every dog is a potential victim. If left untreated, heartworm disease can result in the death of your dog due to the damage it causes to the heart, lungs and other organs.

Signs of heartworm disease include a chronic cough, loss of appetite, weight loss and fatigue. However, these signs do not appear until the disease is well advanced. Sudden death can occur without any warning.

A simple blood test — once a year — can diagnose this disease. If your dog is free of heartworms, then a once a month treatment can protect your dog from heartworms for the rest of the year. The preventative is safe, affordable and easy to handle.

Call today to schedule your dogs heartworm check. Don't wait ... it's a matter of life or death for your family's best friend.

Man killed in blast was planning move to Montana

By Martin Richter
Staff writer

Ronald Raynor was preparing to move to Montana and get a fresh start on his life. Instead, an explosion and fire at his home in Maryville brought his life to an end.

Raynor, formerly of Granite City, died in the Burn Unit at St. John's Mercy Medical Center in St. Louis County at 5:10 a.m. Tuesday, about 12 hours after the apparent natural gas explosion on Monday afternoon.

Sandy Uhles, a long-time friend who dated Raynor off and on for 10 years, said he had moved to Maryville less than a year ago after his home was flooded out in Fuls, Ill.

"He didn't have a shirt on his back when he moved up here," Uhles said. "He lost everything."

She said Raynor was a hard-working, self-employed carpenter and a Vietnam veteran who had struggled with post-traumatic stress disorder.

"He was getting ready to move to Montana," she said. "He's always wanted to go there. He was going to go out there and start a new life."

Apparently, Raynor's approaching move may indirectly have caused the blast and fire that killed him.

Both Uhles and Maryville Police Chief Don Sonnenberg said Raynor had disconnected some appliances earlier on Monday — including a gas stove — and sold them to a dealer.

A state fire marshal's investigator concluded on Wednesday that a leaking valve from the disconnected stove caused the explosion, said Maryville Police.

Sgt. Bob Davis.

Sonnenberg, who entered the burning home along with an Ameritech employee, Chris Watson of Prairietown, to drag Raynor out, said there wasn't much time to think before the rescue.

Sonnenberg was treated later at Anderson Hospital for smoke inhalation.

"It was more spontaneous than anything else," he said. "After I was at the hospital and taking oxygen and everything, you start thinking about a few things and the hands start shaking."

Sonnenberg said about six people who helped with the rescue "did a hell-of-a job."

About six employees of Ameritech who were just leaving work nearby, and at least one other neighbor, pulled apart a corner of the blast-shattered home so Sonnenberg and Watson could get inside to get to Raynor.

Among those who helped were Ed Meyer of Madison, Dominick Rossetto of Collinsville, Darrell Marcum of Marine, John Gill of Glen Carbon and Tom Betts of Maryville — all Ameritech employees — and John Castelli, who lives nearby.

"They were trying to kick the door down, but they couldn't get it down," Sonnenberg said. "Somebody yelled from the corner, 'There's someone in there! There's someone in there!'"

"When I looked in, the room wasn't totally in flames, but it was smoking, and there was a guy laying there. When we went in to get him, he was still on fire from the thighs down, so we had to smother the flames ... before we could take him out."

Madison schools offer pre-school screening

Madison public schools will conduct their annual screening of three-, four- and five-year-old children May 3, 4 and 5.

The school will assess the following developmental areas: cognitive-verbal, fine motor, gross motor, speech and expressive language, hearing, vision, social and effective and medical history. Children who be 5 years old by Sept. 1 will be eligible to register for kindergarten classes. To register a child for kindergarten, the parent or guardian must present the child's birth certificate or some other legal proof of birth, child's immunization record and pay a $10 registration and workbook fee. Each child must have a Social Security number.

Children ages 3, 4 and five who need special services may be referred to the Early Childhood Program. Parents will be given health cards so that physical or dental examinations and immunizations can be completed before the start of school. No child will be permitted to enter kindergarten until proof of physical examination and immunization record is established.

Article 27, Paragraph 8.1 of the Illinois School Code requires that each child upon entering school (public or private) "shall present proof of having been examined in accordance with this section and the rules and regulations promulgated hereunder."

Parents are asked to call the schools for appointments the week of April 25.

The screening schedule will be held at:
Blair School, 878-4818, Mr. Long, principal.
Tuesday, May 3, 1 to 7 p.m.
Harris School, 877-6864, Mr. Becherer, principal.
Wednesday, May 4, 1 to 7 p.m.; Thursday, May 5, 1 to 4 p.m.

Blood drive Thursday

Those interested in donating blood will have the opportunity from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Thursday, April 21, in the Kettler Gym, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, 2100 Madison Ave., Granite City. The blood drive is sponsored by the American Red Cross. Donors should bring their identification to the drive. Donors must be at least 17 years old, in good health and weigh more than 105 pounds.

"Whole blood can be separated into plasma, red cells, white cells and platelets to treat specific medical conditions. It only takes an hour to donate a unit of blood that may save four lives," said Ruth Ann Gabriel, SEMC blood drive chairperson.

Daily, hundreds of patients benefit from donated blood. They may be accident victims, hemophiliacs, patients undergoing chemotherapy, elective surgery or organ transplants.

"Every 10 seconds, someone, somewhere needs blood," Gabriel said. "In the Bi-State area alone, 5,000 units a week are needed to meet the needs of 140 hospitals in 80 Missouri and Illinois counties. Only our donors can provide the lifesaving medicine that these patients need—blood."

Anyone who has any questions or needs more information about the drive should call Gabriel at 798-3128.

Drive for universal health care kicks off

A statewide campaign to improve health care was kicked off in East St. Louis on Monday for the Metro East area.

"The health-care crisis is getting worse every day. We can't wait and wait anymore," said Jeff Fowler, an organizer with the Campaign for Better Health Care.

Throughout the state, campaign members were trying to drum up support Monday for the Illinois Health Security Act, which is presently before the state legislature.

The act would commit Illinois to establishing a universal health care program by January, 1997.

The bill would create a bipartisan commission to study options to fulfill Illinois' health care needs. By January 1997 and after numerous public hearings, the legislature would have to choose which plan is most appropriate to meet and fund those needs based on whatever federal programs may be enacted.

Mary Rhodes, day care director at the Lessie Bates Davis Neighborhood House, and the Family Development Center in East St. Louis, explained that inadequate health care can plague a person throughout life.

She said that many local young mothers don't get the proper prenatal or postnatal care for their children because they simply can't afford it.

Many local children do not have proper immunization and their medical care has to be sidestepped due to the family's financial problems.

Elderly residents sometimes receive inadequate health coverage because everything they need is not covered by Medicaid. Zandra Gates, site administrator at the family development center, noted that while most people have access to crisis care, care which requires hospitalization, once they are out of the hospital their needs go unaddressed.

"They get what they need at the hospital but when they come home they can't get the follow-up treatment that they need," Gates said. "Then they end up back at the hospital."

At least two plans are expected to be examined by the legislature.

The first plan is a single-payer system where health services will be financed predominantly through public funds so that every resident receives a uniform set of benefits.

The second plan, a multi-payer system, would look at financing health services through a mix of private and public funds. Fowler said legislators in the Metro East area have been active in trying to get a universal health care program enacted for the state. Attempts have failed twice in the past to approve such a plan but Fowler said this year organizers are confident of success.

"Adequate health care should be a right for everyone and not just a privilege," Fowler said.

Conference set for disabled information

The 1994 Southern Illinois Parent Conference "Communicating for Partnerships" will be held Tuesday, April 26 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Consensus Holiday Inn.

Designed to provide timely information on local, state and national resources for children with disabilities and their families, the conference will feature regional networking sessions with service providers as well as presentations by two keynote speakers.

Anne Shannon, statewide parent coordinator for the Regional Technical Assistance System, will speak on inclusion and Individual Education Program conferences. Al Smith, parent liaison for the Illinois State Board of Education, will address strategies for fostering open communication between parents and educators.

How To Recycle Garden WasteFRANK'S®
NURSERY & CRAFTS

Where Beautiful Things Begin

Recycling has become a household word during the past few years. Nearly everybody's getting in on the act, or at least it seems that way. People are recycling paper, cans, bottles, you name it.

Many gardeners have been doing this for years, only they call it composting. If you're not, now's a good time to start thinking about it. With Earth Day coming up, the timing couldn't be better.

Years ago, getting rid of grass clippings and the like was easy. You put it in a garbage can or bag and dragged it to the curb. Nobody knew or cared what was in your garbage. Not any more. Today, a growing number of communities are refusing to allow yard waste (grass clippings, what's left from pruning, etc.) to be picked up with the trash.

Composting yard waste makes sense for four good reasons. The first one we already mentioned. The trash man doesn't want it. Second, you don't have to worry about what to do with it. Third, composted material is good for gardening. Fourth, and probably most important, is the fact that you'll save space in our dwindling landfills.

Composting is the process of breaking down yard waste and kitchen scraps into a soil additive. This additive is appropriately called compost. It can be used in place of organic materials like peat moss and cow manure. It also helps the soil hold moisture while allowing excess water to drain. Compost is also a good mulch for flowers, vegetables and landscape plants, plus it helps block out weeds. Not bad for a seemingly useless pile of garbage! And don't forget, it's all free!

Compost contains some of the nutrients plants need for growth, but don't count on it as a substitute for plant food.

The following can be composted: Grass clippings, leaves, withered annual and vegetable plants, faded flowers, fruit and vegetable peels, coffee grounds, eggshells, sawdust, pruning clippings and weeds. Wood ashes can be used, but not more than a cup per bushel of compost.

The following should NOT be composted: Meat scraps, bones, grease, whole eggs and other dairy products. These will attract rodents, or even worse, skunks.

About now you may be wondering why we're not telling you to just bury everything. For one thing, the stuff takes longer to decompose when it's buried. Plus, it won't do much good in your landscape if it's five feet under.

Why does garden waste turn into compost? All plant materials contain carbon and nitrogen. The carbon is used as a food source by microorganisms. As the microorganisms work away, heat is produced which further breaks down the plant material. The average compost pile can attain temperatures of 150°, which is hot enough to kill many disease organisms and weeds.

There are two methods of composting: aerobic (with air) and anaerobic (without air). The microorganisms responsible for aerobic composting need air to do their job. Aerobic composting is faster and more commonly used than the other.

Next week, we'll get into more detail on composting, such as how to maintain a compost pile, when the stuff's ready for use, how to keep the odor down and more. Until then, think recycling!

Letters on display here during Library Week

The Granite City Public Library District is joining with the American Library Association to celebrate National Library Week, April 17-23.

The theme of this special week for the second consecutive year is "Libraries Change Lives."

During National Library Week, a display of letters from former and present Granite City residents will contain comments on how the library has made a difference in their lives.

The letters will be on exhibit at the main library, 2001 Delmar Ave., and the branch library, 2145 Johnson Road.

Andrew J. Goodpaster, general, U.S. Army (retired), wrote, "Your letter... brought back memories of how much the library meant to me and my family during the years I was growing up in Granite City."

"When I think of the things one must be grateful for, the access to a good library during one's early — and later — years has to rank high among them. I extend best wishes for your celebration of National Library Week, and kind regards to my fellow Granite Citizens."

Mayor Ronald L. Selph wrote, "The Granite City Public Library certainly has been instrumental in the development of many lives and minds in our community."

"I have used the library's facilities since my grade school days on the bookmobile to my high school and college days... We need to support and encourage continued growth for our library district."

Georgia Engelke, local author and historian, commented, "I've always been pleased and proud of the staff since gathering materials for the 1976 celebration of our nation's bicentennial."

"Although books were packed away in boxes for the renovation of the building, staff members were dedicated and knowledgeable in locating materials I needed for my first book, 'Old Six Mile.'"

Charles Geer, WGN news and program director, said, "For nearly 20 years, a running gag among the WGN staff has been, 'If you want the answer to a question, just ask Charlie — he knows everything!' The fact is, I don't know about everything... I do know where I can find just about everything — and that's the public library."

Peter Maer, White House correspondent for NBC Radio-Mutual Broadcasting, wrote that "the library became one of my favorite places when I was a grade schooler. My parents, Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Maer, introduced me to the summertime story hour programs. I fondly recall sitting on the cool floor of the downstairs auditorium while wonderful librarians read stories and played games. The world of books also came to the door of Niedringhaus School each week when the bookmobile arrived."

The public is invited to contribute to the "Libraries Change Lives" exhibits by turning in written comments to the library before or during National Library Week.

THE VOICE BOX:

How do you feel about the recent suicide death of Kurt Cobain, the former lead singer of the rock band Nirvana?

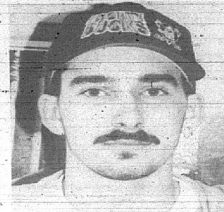

By T.W. MILLER

Matt Towell Granite City
"It is kind of tragic because he was a good musician in a good band. But the media shouldn't oversensationalize his death. At least he died when he was still in his prime."

Robert Woolen Granite City
"I really didn't like him that much because I mostly listen to rap music."

Matt Costello Granite City
"I'm upset that he is missing from the music, but I am angry that the local radio stations are glorifying his suicide. I think people need to focus on the problems he had and the family he left behind."

Chris Kong Granite City
"I regret anyone that would feel that they couldn't go on anymore, and I hate the pattern of talented people caving in to the pressures of fame and fortune."

Chad Browning Granite City
"It's unexpected that someone with his talent would kill himself."

Klan members form new group

Former state officers of the Ku Klux Klan are forming a new Klan organization after a split with Grand Wizard Thomas Robb.

One-time Illinois Grand Titan Basil Sitzes Sr. of Cottage Hills said he and former Grand Dragon Ed Novak of Chicago, along with Klan officials and members in Illinois and six other states, are organizing the Federated Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

Novak was the top Illinois officer of the Robb-led organization and Sitzes was second in command.

Robb said the two were removed from office over policy differences.

"It had nothing to do with any type of misbehavior on their part," Robb said. "We are developing a program and we expect our officers to go along with the program. They didn't go along with the agenda."

Robb and Sitzes agreed that a key issue was their differences over Klan rallies.

rallies in Edwardsville May 6 and in Decatur and Springfield May 7. He helped organize a rally on the Capitol steps in Springfield on Jan. 18 to protest the Martin Luther King Jr. holiday, but said there is no need for another one in May.

"If there was a reason for it, that's OK, but we made the point we went to make," Sitzes said. "Another rally is an unnecessary expense to the state and the taxpayers."

Security arrangements for the Jan. 18 rally cost taxpayers more than $80,000.

Sitzes said he feels the same way about the May 6 rally in Edwardsville, set for the plaza between the Madison County courthouse and Administration Building. Rallies that aren't focused on a specific public issue ought to be on private property, he said.

"On private property, it's easier to control and it doesn't cost the taxpayers so much money," he said. Also, he added, it's easier to recruit new members than in a public setting.

But Robb said public rallies are needed to build membership ranks.

The special operation included a female undercover police officer, several undercover officers near her on foot, and more plain-clothes officers in unmarked cars.

As men approached the female officer, she engaged in conversation with them.

If the men offered her money in exchange for sex, she gave a pre-arranged signal and the other officers converged on the suspect and arrested him.

Ten men were arrested April 8-9 in a similar sting operation.

A diploma and hope Inmates get help in passing GED, turning life around

By Scott Wuerz
Staff writer

Michael McNally of the Glen-Ed Food Pantry tutors inmates at the Madison County Jail in math and English. But the most important thing his students may learn is how to put their lives back together.

McNally's goal after the tutoring is to help the students pass the GED — a test that takes the place of a high school diploma — so that they can get a job or even go to college. McNally said many people who end up on the wrong side of the law get there because they feel they have no opportunity to go straight. A future with a job and an education helps them put the life of crime behind them. "Everybody who wants one should get a second chance," McNally said. "The only requirement is to be in one of my classes is to want to learn. It's my policy not to turn anybody down because of low scores if they're motivated." McNally teaches everything from basic math courses for students with little formal education, to geometry for those more advanced.

Approximately 20 students have passed the GED since McNally began tutoring them a year and a half ago.

While the jail classes are privately funded, McNally donates his time to the food pantry, teaching students of different ages and backgrounds 90 weekday mornings.

"We have one lady who just got her GED who was 75," McNally said. "I have approximately 80 students now between the jail and the pantry, and it is always a thrill to see how happy and proud they are when they pass the GED."

In addition to the adult classes, the Glen-Ed Pantry provides clothing, meals and classes to children from kindergarten through junior high school, pantry volunteer director Nancy Grist said.

"Project Chance was begun for children in September 1993," Grist said. "Kids can come in for a meal and help with their homework on the third Monday of every month. After they've completed their school work, they get to learn how to use computers one-on-one with retired professors from SIUE."

At the beginning of each school year, Grist said, the pantry passes out new shoes, socks and clothing to 125 District 7 students.

Other services the pantry offers are meal programs for students on their summer breaks, to offset the loss of hot lunches served by the school, seasonal programs like Christmas and Thanksgiving food baskets, and year-round clothing and food donation.

Glik distribution center opens

The Glik Company has announced the opening of its new distribution center in Granite City.

The 12,000-square-foot facility, located in the Belmore Village Shopping Center, will serve as the merchandise handling and marketing area for all Glik's, Glik Sports, Glik's Warehouse and 50 & Less stores.

The new area has the capacity to support the distribution needs of at least 50 stores. Glik's has outgrown its previous location in the rear of the Glik's store, also located in Belmore. This area will continue to be used by Glik's for storage, space and offices.

Jim Glik, vice president for the Glik Company, said, "The Glik family continues to deepen its roots in the Tri-Cities area with this major investment. "We have enjoyed an excellent relationship with Granite City and the surrounding communities, which have been our home base for the past 77 years.

"Much of our success has been made possible via the support of our associates and customers, and expanding the company in the community is one way of our saying thanks."

The Glik Company, a family-owned apparel company, now operates stores in 41 locations throughout Missouri and Illinois. Early spring openings are planned for a 50 & Less store in Rella, Mo., and a Glik's store in Decatur, Ill.

A family budget may help with finances

With the ink still fresh from this year's tax statements, it may be prudent to turn to another matter important to your family's financial future—the budget.

Putting together a family budget may sound as horrible as filling out tax returns, but it provides one of the best opportunities to get money matters under control.

It would be hard to imagine a business handling millions of dollars and not having a budget plan. However, most families do not have a budget and may handle millions of dollars.

A family with an annual income of $25,000 to $50,000 will likely manage as much as $1 to $2 million over 30 years.

The biggest hurdle to forming a budget is a mental block. The term budget has a negative connotation. Some people feel only those having money problems budget, but they could not be further from the truth.

In fact, I have witnessed this time and time again. Most of the financially successful people I meet have a very simple and effective philosophy: They always have a solid handle on their budget.

They pay themselves first with a certain percent of monthly income going to long-term savings. Then come the expenses and they never exceed the limits and live within their means.

Start your budget process by tracking spending and income carefully over a three-month period. Save all your receipts and monthly bills and then on a weekly basis begin writing them in a family budget book available from most stationery or business supply stores.

Also, list all income sources such as wages after deductions. Do not include bonuses or dividend income until you are sure of it. Totalling your income and outgoing expenses result in a cash-flow statement.

Once you have computed your cash flow, set priorities and outline a budget that meets what you want to spend and permits saving for the future. Estimate how much you can put in savings each month and stick to it faithfully.

Consider which expenditures may be out of line, such as spending too much on dining out. Keep better track of your weaknesses by monitoring the budget once a month and going over figures in depth every six months.

However, do not over-engineer your budget. The quickest way to destroy enthusiasm for this project is to turn it into a huge, time-consuming project. Be realistic in the number of expense categories you set up so it is easy for each family member to follow and understand.

A two-income U.S. family spends the following percentages of after-tax income: Shelter, 17.7; private transportation, 17.5; food, 14.5; insurance, 11; clothing, 6.9; utilities, 6; entertainment, 5.2; health care, 4.3; household furnishings, 4.2; household operations, 3.4; cash contributions, 2.5; education, 1.8; public transportation, 0.9; and miscellaneous, 4.1.

Some immediate ways to improve monthly outflows include finding a lower-rate credit card, refinancing the mortgage, reducing food costs by using coupons, examining insurance to see if coverage overlaps or is excessive and monitoring gift giving.

I am hosting a seminar in Granite City at 7 p.m. on Thursday, April 21. See the advertisement in this paper or call me for further details. Brian Mulhall is a partner with America Group Financial Services. He can be reached in Granite City at 931-7922.

Ameritech offers expanded services here

Caller ID and several other unusual telephone services are now available in Granite City telephone customers.

Ameritech is offering the new services to Granite City residents and businesses with the following prefixes: 225, 451, 452, 786, 876 and 877.

Caller ID service allows customers to see the phone numbers of incoming calls before answering the telephone, which helps them control their phone use. More than 100,000 Ameritech customers statewide now use

Caller ID service, according to Mary Rander, Ameritech external relations manager. "Caller ID can be kind of addicting," Rander said. "Most people who try Caller ID refuse to go back to the days of the 'blind ring,' when they had no idea who was calling until they answered the phone."

"That's why it's been so popular, because it helps answer that age-old question: 'Who's calling?'"

Also available for the first time in the area are:

- Automatic Callback ($3.50 per month), which lets customers return the last incoming call, whether or not they answered it;

- Repeat Dialing ($3.50 per month), which keeps dialing a busy number for up to 30 minutes or until the call can be completed;

- Call Screening ($3.50 per month), which lets customers block incoming calls from numbers they choose. People calling from one of those numbers hear a recording saying the customer is not available;

- Distinctive Ringing ($5.50 per month), which lets customers assign a separate, distinctive ringing pattern to certain phone numbers; and

- Multi-Ring Service, which lets customers have two or even three phone numbers on a single line, each with its own ringing pattern. The service costs $4.95 monthly for a second number and $3.95 for a third.

Caller ID service costs $6.50 per month and requires a separate unit attached to the phone to display the number of the incoming calls.

The display units are available at many retail stores.

Customers also can lease a unit from Ameritech for $5.95 per month or purchase one in installments.

Customers can block transmission for their phone numbers on interest or that of the school district," Evenson said. For example, he said, as an alderman he would be asked to vote on tax increment finance issues which affect school district funding, potentially creating a conflict.

He also cited the belief that the aldermanic workload will increase next year.

"The reduction in the size of the City Council next April will place a greater demand on the time that the aldermen will have to devote to their office," he said.

Evenson said he would be willing to serve the city in another, less time-consuming capacity, such as on a citizen advisory committee.

Maeras

Maeras made a call.

Maeras returned to the bar, finished his drink and left by the front door, Russell said.

The cook said he heard fire trucks about six or seven minutes after Maeras left and, looking out the back door of Ralph and Charlie's, Russell said he saw the Lahey building on fire.

Annette Thebaud, also a Ralph and Charlie's employee, testified she had seen Maeras enter the restaurant through the back door "in a hurry" the night of the fire and then leave after having one drink.

She said Russell had come from the kitchen and reported the fire two or three minutes after Maeras left.

Madison Police Chief Paul Bargiel, who was a lieutenant at the time of the fire, testified that he had been on vacation at the time, but that about a week later Maeras had called him at home and asked for help.

Bargiel said that, at Maeras' request, Bargiel went to the Golden Auto building. Thea said Maeras explained that he had a theory that the person who started the fire had climbed up a drainage pipe on the roof of a one-story attached garage and then entered the building through a second-floor window.

But Bargiel said he discounted the theory because the drainpipe would not bear any weight and its paint showed no marks of having been climbed; the gutter that would have had to have been used to pull up on the building also would not bear any weight; and the tar roof, which clearly showed footprints when Bargiel walked on it, showed no footprints except those of firemen boots.

Bargiel said Maeras approached him "for help" again about a week later to say that the damage to the building was only about $5,000 and "that he would like to forget the whole thing and have the investigation stop."

Asked if Maeras knew at that time that he was a suspect in the fire, Bargiel said, "I believe he did."

Bargiel also testified that he had received an anonymous letter earlier this year — at about the time Maeras was originally scheduled for trial — that placed the blame for the fire on a convicted arsonist with ties to Maeras.

Bargiel said that letter "contained" substantially the same things as presented by Maeras in 1988.

for 15 years, with a 15-year old son.

The Christmas in April team plans to update all electrical service, insulate the house, repair the roof and replace the gutters.

New soffit and fascia will be put in place and several windows will be replaced with new ones. "I do feel some guilt knowing that there are probably more deserving people, so I truly feel blessed to have been chosen."

Patterson said that the program not only restores the house but also helps restore the self-worth of the homeowner and gives the homeowner a new sense of dignity and pride.

"When the home around you is a place to be proud of, it is inherently a boost to the owner's feeling of self-worth," he said.

"Please accept my heartfelt gratitude from all of us who will be choosing to always remember that your act of charity is not only of material value."

"It is also an act of restoring one's faith in his fellow man and woman. Thanks again for the renewed dose of faith and dignity."

The Christmas in April program can still use volunteers for Saturday's projects. Interested persons should call Butch Wojtowicz at 876-0024 or Lucinda Schmidt at 451-6086.

Correction

A story on Hardee's Hometown Harvest that appeared in Wednesday's Journal contained several errors.

The home towns of the two winners in the Environmental Awareness category were transposed. Brenda Roberts lives in East St. Louis; Sandra M. Greive lives in St. Charles.

A winner in the Senior Citizen Assistance category, Carolyn Carter, lives in East St. Louis. She does not live in the Clyde Jordan Senior Building, but helps brighten the daily lives of those who do live there.

The Journal regrets the errors.

Jeffery slated to speak here

More and more people are looking to government and to human laws to solve their "rights" problems. We constantly hear them asking when government is going to do something about this inequity or that deficiency (out jobs or in health care, crime or regarding abortion rights, etc.).

On the other hand, some wise thinkers are realizing that government can't do it all. One such person is the editor of the Wall Street Journal, who recently suggested we need to turn to religion as a resource to meet the nation's most pressing problems.

First Church of Christ, Scientist, Granite City, agrees, and has invited Robert W. Jeffery, a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, to address the vital topic of what religion can do to contribute in a significant way to solving major social problems. This will be done in a public forum at 3 p.m. Sunday, April 24.

The title of Jeffery's lecture is "God's Government Assures our Rights." The public is invited to this free hour-long lecture, to be given at the Christian Science Church, 2560 Delmar Ave., at 3 p.m. on April 24. Child care will be provided.

First Place is a Christ-centered health program that is currently having great success in the Granite City area, originating at Pontoon Baptist Church with branches at First Baptist Church and Second Baptist Church.

The weekend was a schedule of motivational seminars, Bible studies and instruction on the body's metaphysical needs for the correct nutrients in the diet and the spiritual need for Christ in everyone's lives.

The group came back with great enthusiasm to help anyone interested to develop a more healthy lifestyle with Christ in the lead.

AIDS walk-a-thon

Deanna Croffoot and her son, Keith, know firsthand the struggles of living with AIDS on a daily basis.

That is why they are both participating in Bethany Place's third annual Walk-A-Thon on Sunday, May 1, at Longacre Park in Fairview Heights.

There will be plenty of free literature, posters and information available to anyone in the community who wants to know more about HIV infection, including coloring and activity books for primary-age school children. The books are created by the Illinois Department of Public Health.

If you would like to participate, perform or donate to the Walk-A-Thon, call Lynne Cross, Bethany Place, volunteer coordinator, at 224-0291.

O'Fallon-West game was one for record books

After witnessing an incredible high school pitching performance April 4, as the coach of the O'Fallon High School varsity baseball team, I took time to check the Illinois High School baseball record book and found some interesting notes.

In defeating Belleville West, 10-1, in 16 innings, O'Fallon prevailed in a contest that stands as the fourth-longest in state history. On May 23, 1973, Mount Olive and Staunton played to a scoreless tie after 21 innings.

NEXT IN LINE is a 20-inning contest between Olympia Fields and Rich Central and Homewood-Flossmoor in 1975 (the score was not published by the IHSA) and a 19-inning, 5-4 victory by Monrovia over Tremont in 1977.

Amazingly, each of these games was an hour to 1:30 longer than O'Fallon's 3:15 win which helped account for Panthers starting pitcher Don O'Keefe going 13 innings.

While allowing just two hits, walking one and striking out five, the senior left-hander placed himself sixth on the state list of most innings pitched in a game.

That record is held by Dave Brodie, who went 19 innings in the aforementioned Tremont-Manito game. Others ahead of O'Keefe are at 17, 16, 14 and 13 1/3 innings.

IN THE STATE tournament, though, the most innings for a starter is 12 — shared by Al Smith of Peoria Manual in a 3-0 win over Chicago Lane in 1965 and by Terry Walker of Newton in a 4-3 loss to Chicago Schurz in 1969.

While O'Keefe threw just 109 pitches for 13 innings, his reliever, Brian Funk, gained the victory with three hitless innings.

West hurlers Nathan Vincyard, Jeff Reuss, Brian Fuess and Dave Wallis allowed just eight hits. Panthers left fielder Sean Finnman provided the game-winning hit with a bases-loaded single in the 16th.

IHSA records do not include reference to the status of 15 consecutive scoreless innings by two teams, but it is said to say West coach Chuck Hasenstab was accurate in saying he had never seen anything like it.

HASENSTAB, incidentally, entered the season with a 471-238 record for the sixth-highest win total for a coach.

Jack Kaiser of Oak Park leads the career coaching victory list with a 712-349-6 record from 1975-93.

Other Southern Illinois representatives before Hasenstab are former Oakville baseball coach Dave Luchtefeld at 423 from 1962-84 for ninth place and current Edwardsville coach Tom Pile at 413-128 since 1978 for 10th place.

EXTRA INNING: Regarding state records, Pile and Edwardsville recorded one of the most impressive for any sport when the Tigers posted 64 consecutive wins from early in the '90 season to the state title game in '91.

The closest to 64 is 48 by Oak Forest in '85 and '86.

On the same day that O'Fallon edged West, Lebanon pitcher Jeff Soudouise hurled a 6-0 no-hit win over Westlin. Soudouise began the season with eight scoreless innings in a 9-0 tie at O'Fallon in a 117-pitch performance.

During one stretch in that game, Soudouise struck out 10 straight batters to place himself fifth on the all-time whiff list.

Maroons ace shuts down Granite City

By R.J. Gerber

Granite City's opening Southwestern Conference softball game was anything but enjoyable for the Lady Warriors.

Facing perennial power Belleville West on Thursday, the Lady Warriors didn't have a runner reach base as Maroons pitcher Kelly Gauch hurled a perfect game in her team's 8-0 victory.

Four Granite City errors hurt the team's cause. Defensive misplays are something Lady Warrior coach John Hutchings has seen before.

"WE PLAYED PRETTY good at the beginning of the game, but we made a couple mistakes and you can't do that against a team like West," Hutchings said.

"You have to play almost a perfect ballgame to beat (West)."

The Maroons went ahead 3-0 in the top of the third inning and also scored three more in the fifth and a pair in the seventh.

Angie Augustine went 3-for-4 with an RBI and Kym Kraus added two hits and an RBI for the Maroons.

Granite City is 0-3 overall and 0-1 in the SWC.

Although the Lady Warrior defense struggled as well as the offense, pitcher Julie Tanksley turned in a respectable effort.

Warriors rally, upend Maroons

Fielding mistakes costly in Granite City's SWC win

In a game full of giveaways, the Granite City Warriors proved a bit more opportunistic than Belleville West in a 5-4 Southwestern Conference victory Thursday.

After Belleville West grabbed a 4-0 lead in the bottom of third inning, Granite City rallied for all five of its runs in the fifth.

The Warriors went ahead 5-4 on Jeff Ridenour's two-run double and held the host Maroons scoreless the rest of the way.

Both teams did all their scoring in one inning, with errors paving the way both times. The timing and nature of the miscues seemed unusual for the two SWC rivals, who are known for solid pitching and defense.

The Warriors won for the fifth straight time and gained an early edge in the conference race, improving to 2-1 and 2-0 in the SWC. The Maroons dropped to 3-3, 0-1.

"IT'S ENCOURAGING THAT we got down 4-0 and didn't quit," Granite City coach Gus Lignoul said. "We stayed in there and we were fortunate. We each had a big inning and we kind of helped one another out."

"When it was 4-0, I was feeling pretty good about it," Belleville West coach Chuck Hasenstab said. "But how quickly things change. We've been struggling. I'm not going to blame the fielding, that's baseball."

JV kickers stay unbeaten with two wins

The Lady Warrior junior varsity soccer team saw its string of shutouts come to an end last week but stayed perfect on the season with victories against O'Fallon and Alton.

Granite City defeated O'Fallon 2-1 behind goals by Michelle Montgomery and Carrie Simpson. Roxie Simpson assisted on Montgomery's goal, and Montgomery assisted on Carrie Simpson's goal.

The Lady Warriors dominated the contest and outshot the visitors 26-2 but gave up their first goal of the season.

Granite City began the year with five straight shutouts.

On Thursday, the Lady Warriors improved to 7-0 with a 3-0 win over Alton. Roxie Simpson scored twice on assists by Carrie Simpson and Amanda Nizinski, and Tara Tomlinson added an unassisted goal.

The Lady Warriors outshot Alton 29-0.

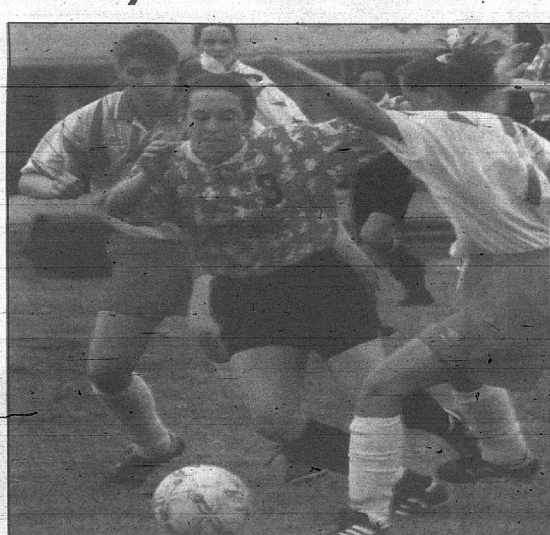

The Lady Warriors, made up almost entirely of freshmen, have been led by the scoring trio of Roxie Simpson, Montgomery and Tomlinson. Roxie Simpson is leading the team in scoring with 10 goals and two assists.

Tomlinson has three goals, and Montgomery has two.

"They're all real threats when they get the ball," JV coach Virgil Kirksey said.

Carrie Simpson is leading Granite City in assists with six.

Dowdy strikes twice in shutout win at Alton

The Alton Redwings got a glimpse Thursday of what they would like their girls soccer program to become.

The Lady Warriors defeated the Redwings 3-0 in a match at Gordon Moore Park. Alton coach Don Schmidt paid tribute to the Lady Warriors and the area's other perennial power, Collinsville, after the game.

"They're the standard that everybody gauges themselves by because they consistently put out the best teams in the area," Schmidt said of Granite City and Collinsville. "I'm not trying to put anybody down because they're the cream of the crop. It's a big day when you beat them and when you play well against them."

Granite City improved its record to 7-1. Alton is 1-1.

THE GAME WAS played under windy conditions from start to finish. The Redwings almost utilized the gusty conditions to get the game's first goal.

Alton forward Jill Heneghan sent a free kick from 30 yards out that just sailed over the Granite City goal. Heneghan's shot proved to be only one of three Alton would get in the game.

The Lady Warriors then put their offense in high gear after Heneghan's near miss and Granite City goalie Mikla Economy got credit for the shutout.

Staci Dowdy put Granite City up 1-0 at the 34-minute mark when she broke in behind the Redwing defense and beat Alton goalkeeper Carrie Kaiser.

Granite City's Cavaness sets example for those looking up

By Mike Kelly

For many of today's athletes, being a role model is anything but easy.

Some athletes, like Charles Barkley of the Phoenix Suns, reject the status. But since the inception of sports, youngsters have needed a hero they can look up to. To them these athletes exemplify all the good things in life. Heroes mold character and self-esteem.

But athletes are human and they can make more than their share of mistakes. Thus, the athlete himself walking a thin line between right and wrong. It's a big responsibility, one that many would rather not have.

BUT FOR THOSE who welcome the responsibility, it can be a personal reward of gratitude and satisfaction. Such is the case with Jamie Cavaness.

Cavaness, a senior at Granite City High School who signed a national letter of intent Wednesday to play basketball at St. Louis University next fall, is a role model for every young girl in the Granite City school district with ambitions to play basketball.

Considering the 18-year-old Cavaness is still at a very young age, she isn't afraid of her status.

"Not at all," she said. "I welcome the responsibility. Basketball has given me the chance to get a better education and as a teenager it kept me away from the bad influences that are out there. It was never hard for me to say no to the wrong crowd."

"Playing basketball occupied my time and made me a better person. I wouldn't hesitate to share my experience with the younger kids in our community."

Cavaness isn't a stranger when it comes to working with kids.

"I'VE HAD A lot of experience in that area," she said. "To many, being an athlete is such a high esteem. There's a lot of praise thrown your way, but you

Brandt throwing around weight for Lady Warriors

By Mike Kelly
Correspondent

It's been a long season for the Lady Warriors' track team.

Rut Stephanie Brandt has brought a ray of sunshine to an otherwise cloudy situation.

Brandt, a freshman at Granite City High, has been the Lady Warriors' steadiest performer.

She owns four meet titles (Collinsville, East St. Louis and O'Fallon) in the discus and three in the shot put this season.

Brandt, who had her streak in the shot put snapped by Julie Carroll of Jerseyville, scored all of Granite City's points on Thursday at the Tiger Relays in Highland by winning the discus event.

BRANDT THREW THE discus a career-best 119 feet 2 1/2 inches. But the Lady Warriors finished 12th in the 15-team meet with five points. East St. Louis topped the field with 34 points. Highland was a distant second with 39 points. The Tigerettes won eight of the 13 scheduled events.

"I'm a little surprised that I've been this successful," said Brandt, a two-time conference champion at Grigsby Junior High. "My older sisters all went through this and they warned me of the pitfalls. But I haven't had one bad experience yet."

Brandt had a good teacher. Her oldest sister, Debbie, was a three-time state qualifier who finished fourth twice. Her other sisters, Diana and Vicki, also threw the discus. But they weren't as fortunate.

Brandt had bad knees and Vicki was too small," Brandt said. "But Debbie started it all. She was the successful one, and the one I'm trying to emulate."

Elks '85 second in tournament

The Granite City Elks '85 girls select soccer team placed second in the Andy Waite Easter Classic earlier this month at Collinsville after losing 3-1 to Collinsville United in the title game. The Elks, coached by Dan Long and Steve Nohm, began the tournament with a 4-0 win over Frankfort. Goalkeeper Katelyn Nohm earned the shutout. The Elks then split their next two games before falling to Collinsville in the title game April 2. The Elks are made up of 15 girls age 8-9. The team manager is Rob Paoli.

helpful, too. Every time she comes home to visit, she's always working with me. I'm real fortunate. I've got a lot of people helping me."

But Brandt has already surpassed her sister Debbie by setting the school record at Grigsby in the discus. Brandt, who threw the discus a school-record 99 feet in the seventh grade, bettered that mark with a toss of 111 feet a year later.

Debbie set the original record (93 feet) in 1981. Dianna broke that mark with a toss of 96 feet in 1988.

"I feel a little pressure," Brandt said. "I really shouldn't because I have nothing to lose and everything to gain at my age. But my sisters were all fine athletes. Now, it's my turn to keep the tradition going."

"I want to go to state so bad. It would be real beneficial because a trip this season would get me adjusted to the atmosphere up there. With that out of the way, I can concentrate on placing in the event or even winning it the next three years."

If Brandt continues improving, a trip to Charleston isn't out of the question next month.

"Stephanie is a big, strong girl," coach Dave McClain said. "I'm not at all surprised by her performance. She's been around the sport all of her life and she's a very good athlete."

Brandt also throws the shot put, but she'd rather concentrate on the discus.

"You don't need that much strength to throw the discus," she said. "Quickness and the proper release are the important things. I'm pleased with myself, but I'm not completely happy."

Denise Dutko scored the Lady Warriors' second goal at the 56-minute mark on a header. Dowdy closed out the scoring for Granite City when she got her second of the game from 15 yards out at the 60-minute mark. Schmidt praised Kaiser for the way she handled the relentless Granite City pressure in the second half.

"She made some good saves and she really played tough tonight," Schmidt said. "In the first half, we kept their shots at long range. But in the second half, they came in and just had better scoring chances."

Even though the Lady Warriors outshot the Redwings 13-3, Granite City coach Gene Baker considered the Lady Warriors fortunate to escape with a victory.

"Alton's a good opponent and they make it a competitive game every time we play them," Baker said. "The wind was such a factor today that I'm happy to get out of here with a shutout." Granite City's next game is 4 p.m. Monday at McCluer North.

Evangelists set. Kid's Crusade

Brent and Cheryl Pickens, children's evangelists from Sherwood, Ark., will be conducting a Kid's Crusade April 17 through 20 at First Assembly of God in Granite City.

The services will include the use of puppets, Bible stories with Andy D. Dunham, gospel illustrations, chalk drawings, music and more. Brent and Cheryl have traveled throughout the United States during the last 15 years reaching hundreds of children for Christ. They have also served as children's ministers in North Little Rock, Ark.

Pastor Ben Leonard and the congregation of First Assembly invite everyone to attend. The Sunday service begins at 6:30 p.m. The Monday through Wednesday services begin at 7 p.m. each night.

For more information, call the church office at 453-1200.

Asthmatic kids sought for camp

The American Lung Association of Illinois seeks campers to attend Superkids, a week-long residential camp for asthmatic children between the ages of 8 and 13.

Superkids gives children with asthma the opportunity to enjoy outdoor activities they may otherwise be denied, while providing medical support 24 hours a day.

This year camp will be July 17 through 23.

Asthma can be a serious problem for children.

It is the No. 1 reason why children are taken to hospital emergency rooms — and one of the primary reasons why children miss school in the United States. Spaces are still available for campers from the area.

The registration deadline is May 13.

For more information, call 692-0505 or 1-800-788-3864.

Horoscope

Two planets are re-routed today: Mercury in Aries causes a few road delays, yet much success comes from work and pleasure. Mars, that bundle of energy, hops into its ruling sign, Aries. Therefore, be very careful of offers — especially ones with strings attached. Profits abound for those in real estate or who dabble in the stock market. Lovers may misuse your funds or assets.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Even chores and family demands are therapeutic. Focus on your responsibilities to family and friends. Trim your expenses, and a trip is possible. Expect a lean period. Someone may try to bribe you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Your money-management skills are the envy of your friends and colleagues. A relative has been under a lot of stress. Choose between several tempting social invitations. A love interest accompanies you anywhere.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). You're the life of the party today and thus in great demand. Set aside some time in which to be alone with a spouse or lover. Insist on having financial data in writing. Avoid acting on impulse this evening.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Nip a bad habit in the bud, and you save yourself a lot of time and energy. You needn't feel so self-conscious around a love interest — he or she is full of admiration. Invest in a health program. Take a short trip.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). A friend or relative is dying to be included in your plans for the day. Avoid making a major purchase when you haven't much money in the bank. Lovers' quarrels are over almost as soon as they have begun. You have luck at games.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (April 17). The entire world falls under your spell this year, and friends, relatives and colleagues compete for the privilege of waiting upon you. Something that was hidden is brought into the open in May or October. Singles find romance in June and January while traveling. Seek out Leos and Scorpios for marriage. Money comes in August. Your luckiest numbers are 8, 11 and 19.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). A few short hours with a lover today are better than nothing at all. Avoid blaming your partner for his or her busy schedule. Join a health club. Exercise self-restraint on a shopping trip.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Have the courage to stand up for yourself today, and you'll be pleasantly surprised at the results. Relatives encourage you to branch out and develop talents. You make a change for a lover. Social events are expensive.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Leave job stress behind you, and just have fun. You need to recreate your life. Differences unearth true motives. Take on an additional financial responsibility. You set a personal record.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Relieve your restlessness with a day trip — especially one that brings you closer to nature. A child or younger relative takes to heart everything you say. Save money by making or growing something yourself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). A day of passion and romance revitalizes you as nothing else can. Spend money on new clothes. Money comes when you display optimism and enthusiasm. You and a spouse or partner grow closer.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). You feel as if you've been counsel- or to the entire world lately — now, a symphony of boredom or frustration. Listen to you. Avoid spending money out of boredom or frustration. Make a date with a lover.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Life is actually a lot easier when you face facts. Family members go to great lengths to make your day a pleasant one. A new love interest is on your mind constantly. Money is associated with a prize or award.

Groups, songs often have numbers in names

By Bill Beggs
Reporters

THE NUMBERS 'GAME': Many groups — 2 Live Crew, Three Dog Night, 4 Non Blondes, The Dave Clark Five — have numbers in their names. And many tunes have numerical song titles.

1. "Five O'Clock World" was a hit remake last year for country star Hank Ketchum. What pop group took the song to No. 4 in 1996 in Billboard's Hot 100?

2. What was the No. 2 hit in 1959 for The Crests?

3. "7 And 7 Is" was a psychedelic hit. No. 33 in 1966, for what group?

4. What song hit No. 16 in 1971 for The Grass Roots?

5. Who hit No. 1 in 1978 with "Three Times A Lady"?

6. What was the No. 4 hit in 1970 for Chicago?

7. Who hit No. 2 in 1958 with the quaint love song "26 Miles

(Santa Catalina)?"

8. What was the first No. 1 hit for The Beatles in 1965?

9. Who hit No. 15 in 1985 with "19," a chilling song whose title referred to the average age of U.S. soldiers in Vietnam?

10. What was the No. 5 hit in 1969 for Three Dog Night?

(Extra credit: What other bands had hits with songs that had the same title — but different melodies?)

ANSWERS: 1. The Vogues. 2. "16 Candles." 3. Love. 4. "Two Divided By Love." 5. The Commodores. 6. "25 Or 6 To 4." 7. The Four Preps. 8. "Eight Days A Week." 9. Paul McCartney. 10. "One." (Extra credit: The Bee Gees, Metallica; both in 1989.)

Dickens celebration this weekend

In commemoration of Charles Dickens' overnight visit to Lebanon's Mermaid House in 1842, the Lebanon Dickens Society is holding a special celebration this weekend.

Charles Dickens Days, which officially commenced Friday at 7:30 p.m., will continue through Sunday.

The festival was to be held throughout Lebanon and includes a visit from Charles Dickens as portrayed by Dr. Clarence D. Haggis, from Freeburg. His show, "The Dickens of the Looking Glass," was held at the Looking Glass Playhouse at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Saturday and Sunday free demonstrations on chair caning, pottery and broom making, tatting, potpourri making, cut flower and herb decorations and face painting will be featured.

Throughout the festival's activities, entertainment will be provided by the Ducky Windmills playing the dulcimer and other stringed instruments.

Seven students at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville were recently recognized for excellence in undergraduate research during the annual Undergraduate Research Academy Assembly.

Earlier in the year, the students were named research fellows in the Academy.

Funded by an Excellence in Undergraduate Education grant, the Academy was established in 1990 by the Graduate School to encourage, recognize and support excellence in undergraduate education.

The academy provided mentors to assist the student in conducting and evaluating independent research for their projects. Research proposals were submitted earlier in the year, with research activities beginning shortly after proposals had been approved.

Earlier this month, students who had completed their projects made presentations before an audience of faculty, classmates, friends and relatives. At an awards ceremony, the students were awarded certificates for their outstanding contributions to undergraduate research. Area students who were recognized, listed by home towns and research topics, include:

Granite City: Rita E. Adkins, sociology; The ADA: Implications of the Employability of the Disabled.

Two win Optimist Club's oratorical contest

Andrea Malone and Matt Ely, students at Granite City High School, won the oratorical contest conducted by the Optimist Club of Granite City.

The contest was held April 7 at the Brown Recreation Center.

By winning the club level competition, Malone and Ely earned the right to compete in the zone competition April 21. Winners from the zone competition will advance to regional competition and then ultimately to the Illinois District competition in Springfield, where boy and girl winners will each receive a $1,500 scholarship.

Other participants included the runners-up, Jackie Hale and Brian Griffith. All students are sponsored by Ron Pennell and attended Granite City High School.

Chairman Bobby Patton said participants in the 1993-94 oratorical contest make a four- or five-minute oral presentation on the topic "Optimism, the Right Stuff," before a panel of judges. Winners are determined on the basis of organization of material, delivery and presentation, personal appearance and poise and overall effectiveness.

The judges for this year's event were Robert Johnson, retired teacher; Teresa Johnson, teacher at Granite City High School; Dr. Goni Michaeloff, Granite City School District; and Judith Cooper, Illinois American Water Company.

Nearly 40,000 young people annually compete in the Optimist oratorical contests of North America. A total of $156,000 in scholarships is awarded each year to the boy and girl winners from the 52 district contests.

Club President Steve Selby said the Granite City Optimist Club is dedicated to serving youths in the Quad-Cities area.

The oratorical contest is one of the many activities sponsored by the club throughout the year. Meetings are held at noon every Thursday at Shoney's Restaurant.
